

Nancy Wynne Discusses Pretty Clothes Seen Recently and Chats of Interesting Events—Another June Bride Announces Wedding Date

Isn't Isabel Fraser pretty? I saw her in town a few days ago in an unusually good looking suit. It was light tan, made with a straight box coat, and was bound in bright red. It had a red vest, too, and with it she wore a red hat of rough straw. It was very becoming to her, with her light hair and deep color. She came out during the winter, you know, and she had an awfully good time, too. She is the youngest of her family; her brother Percy married Ellen Glendinning, and her sister is Mrs. Graham Donoherty.

The Elisha Lees' dance Saturday night was lots of fun. It was in the Rose gardens at the Bellevue and was mostly for the people who will come out next winter. Dot Lee, their daughter and the guest of honor, looked well in cloth of silver gown with a girle of pearls. She has fair hair and blue eyes and is very sweet. Mrs. Lee looked handsome in a beaded gown of champagne color. Dot goes to Bryn Mawr College now, but will be among the debas next winter.

Well, we will have still another to add to the long list of June brides. Dot Ely, the widow of Newbold Ely, daughter of Chestnut Hill, and Herbert Warden will be married Wednesday, June 21, at St. Thomas' Church at Whitehart. That's a very attractive church. It stands on a hill overlooking the beautiful Whitehart Valley. I suppose Elizabeth Ross and next fall, the wedding will be held at the Rose house, a summer place quite near at Fort Washington on the Schuylkill pike. It's next to the Jane's farm and is a quite little farmhouse.

This Thursday, Friday and Saturday (the 4th, 5th and 6th) there will be the Indoor Horse Show at the new Racetrack. Mrs. Walter Hanswiler is the chairman and Mrs. Dobson Altman is chairman of the box committee. A great many people who are interested in horses, and their name is legion, will exhibit. I hear that the Lamotte du Ponts, of Wilmington, have entered some of their finest horses, including that Pointe à la Poudre which they never get them straight, but this Mr. and Mrs. du Pont have several daughters of subtle age, who often come to the ones I've seen most often.

Margaret du Pont, the Irene du Ponts' daughter, is another who visits here. If I am not mistaken, she went to St. Mary's, at Peckskill, with Polly Bayard, Dorothy Stevens and several other girls from this city.

TT SOUNDS as if the Fashion Show in connection with the Presbyterian Hospital fete, on May 12, would be a very good one. Deb Seal has charge of the show, and one of the models will be Mrs. Roy T. Darlington, who is Margaret Curtis, and you know what lovely clothes she always wears. The fete, which is to be held on the grounds of the Presbyterian Hospital, was originally planned to raise money for an elevator at the Cathedral Home at Devon. But I hear they have already been so successful that now the fair will be for the benefit of the entire building fund.

The twins were beautiful as they lay in their comfortable couch, cooing and gurgling together. They stopped waving their arms to smile at self-same smile at an admiring visitor who stopped to tell them how nice they were, and the pink arm twisted about the blue one in an affectionate way. The twins, who were just then, suddenly interrupted one of the smiles, and the admirer quickly apologized for starting a disturbance. But Mother merely smiled serenely.

"It's all right," she said, leaning over to untangle the twins, "Tommy was just biting Teddy's hand."
